Satan's VS. Christ's idea of Salvation and Utopia.

Spiritualists claim that those Christians who choose the one way, the truth and the life, rejecting all other religions, are evil or even "Satan", because they separate themselves from human beings and resist unity and brotherhood.

Answer:

We choose only to be separate from other human beings and religions if they refuse to acknowledge the Higher triune God and the advanced/mature truth of Jesus Christ as above all else and the only beings that deserve our worship. Spiritualists say true Christians are "Satan" because we refuse to see ourselves as part of God (which in their estimation is everyone and everything, apart from acknowledging the one true, personal Creator God and His supremacy). If everyone would just acknowledge the one true, triune God as Creator and the Highest God, there would be no need to be separate. But if we want to follow Jesus Christ and His way, and others refuse, they will by choice be left behind and the separation come as a consequence of others not wanting to acknowledge Jesus Christ and His way as the only way to be set free from the slavery of sin and false doctrines that truly corrupt the soul.

But notice that they call those who choose to honor the Creator God above all else, and Jesus Christ as above all else, as Satan, when that was and is the very sin of Lucifer, later known as Satan.

In any event. Christians who choose the way, the truth and the life, have no need to be separate just to be separate, quite the contrary. To be a minority, or worse, even having to stand alone against a large crowd is not only difficult, but impossible without faith. At least to me and to most. We do not resist true unity and brotherhood, which is only found in the mature truth of Jesus Christ.

Know also that Satan try to achieve immortality by Spiritualism, more precisely Kabbalah, by trying to achieve unity among all, regardless of their faith, this he try to do by energy work, raising the energy/frequency among people, hence his happy human agenda, which is also why people who have lower energies and also those who choose to be separate as they believe in the one and only way of Jesus Christ, which is salvation from sin, as one of his worst enemies. He try to create a gigantic lightbulb by energy fields, (with protons, neutrons and electrons), in order to achieve immortality and salvation for the human race IN SIN. Which is really the fallen angel's and humans dream of Utopia/ heaven. Which is basically everlasting hell.

But notice that it is more the content in what you believe, your faith that matters. Not what you call yourself. One can probably find say 5 devoted Muslims out there who are closer to the true doctrine, than say some 5 Christians who believe in cheap grace and salvation, and once saved always saved, denying the sanctification, which is the way of Christ. Why? Because it is about the content, the character and law of God than it is just a name. A name has no meaning if He do not stand for something. Hence Satan will call himself Jesus Christ, and he does, but the content of his counterfeit religion(s) is very different from the mature truth of the true Jesus Christ.
Notice the difference from the danger of uniting in error on the greater doctrines, to that of seeing beyond the externals, acknowledging that you share some common ideas or beliefs among people of other faiths. The latter does not encourage unity in error, but has to do with seeing beyond the labels and externals, which are prejudices and not a part of God's character trait of impartiality.
